

The Emin Way Presents

Finding Our Way in a New Reality

We are in a time of the unknown . . . a time of uncertainty and increasingly extreme behaviour and circumstances.

Our training in life equips us to be able to handle most situations. When faced with a new ecology that we don't understand and are unable to predict, we often lose focus. Momentum tends to decrease, and we may lose our way as well.

You are invited to join us in this workshop where together we will explore how to regain our balance and sense of direction. We can learn to use the situation we find ourselves in to propel us forward in our human development.
