

The Emin Way Presents

Colours of The Soul

Imagine you lived in a big house with five main rooms. Each room was a different colour with different lighting, each promoting a unique state of mind and activity through its furnishings and decorations. Wouldn't this be a fun place to explore!

This image can be seen as a metaphor for the soul, because our soul is the orchestrator of our internal home and affairs here on planet Earth. It works with five different frequencies represented by the colours white, red, blue, yellow and green, each promoting a unique aspect of living.

You are invited to join us on Saturday for a practical, hands-on introduction to these five living frequencies.
